

VOCATIONAL LEADERS WILL VISIT PHOENIX

For the purpose of developing training facilities for disabled soldiers in this state, Uel E. Lamkin, director-in-chief of the federal board of vocational education, and Nicholas Ricciardi, an officer of the district with headquarters in San Francisco, will arrive in Phoenix the first week in August. This information was received yesterday by Fred P. Rowen, field agent in charge of the rehabilitation work.

Mr. Rowen said last evening that there were approximately 4500 disabled ex-service men in the state, 1600 being located in this valley. The majority, he claims, are tubercular and not able to take the training according to the program. This is the problem that will be worked out as a result of the visit of the officials who plan to be in Arizona for several days.

Arrangements will be made to have Mr. Lamkin make an address before one or more of the civic organizations while here. Other plans being made are for his presence and that of Mr. Ricciardi at the American Legion convention in Globe. They will hold a conference with Governor Thomas E. Campbell, who is deeply interested in the work, and also with Dr. R. H. H. Blome, state director of vocational education, who is at the head of the rehabilitation program for men and women injured in industry in this state.

Mr. Rowen will leave tonight for Los Angeles for a regional conference, but will return by the first of the month in time to arrange the complete program for the visitors and welcome them to Arizona.

END OF VACATION SCHOOL'S FIFTH YEAR IS TODAY

Three Hundred Children to Take Part In the Closing Exercises this Morning on Lawn of Pro-Cathedral

Dressed in costumes of their own designing, 300 children will participate in the closing day exercises of the Trinity Pro-Cathedral vacation school on the cathedral grounds at 9 o'clock this morning.

Children between the ages of 6 and 16 years who have been attending the vacation school will strive for the prizes which will be awarded to the boy and girl wearing the most original costume, or the two prizes of equal importance which will be awarded to the boy and girl wearing the most comical make-up.

The school has almost doubled its enrollment since it was first established by Rev. Dean Scarlett five years ago, and in consequence has enlarged its faculty and broadened the work.

A brief history of the establishment and growth of the vacation school is outlined here by Mrs. Emma T. Jack, superintendent.

"Five years ago the thought came to Rev. William Scarlett, dean of Trinity Cathedral (Episcopalian) of Phoenix: 'Why not help the hot summer months for the children who remain at home during vacation. Why not a vacation school?'"

"With this happy inspiration, he proceeded to ask his personal friends to help finance such an undertaking and was met with most cordial response. The next thought was for material which would help the kiddies and which has been instrumental in establishing the school slogan, 'Profitable activity.'"

After much deliberation the following courses were decided upon: Indian basketry, drawing, sewing, cooking, first aid, folk dances, nature study, scout craft, scout cooking and music. With an amazing willingness members of the congregation offered to give their time for one or more mornings a week during the term of eight weeks in conducting these classes.

To advertise the school, a very attractive announcement was prepared. It gave the time, place, duration, classes and other details, while the following statement was given prominence: "No charge. Open to all. Absolutely free. Strictly undenominational." These announcements were mailed to children, the story was given to the newspapers and thus the vacation school was launched. It is now an established institution of the cathedral.

School is Pleasant.

The cathedral house in which the school is held is a two-story brick structure equipped with a cooling plant which makes it much more pleasant than the average home. A large assembly room takes up the greater part of the first floor. The second floor is divided into rooms which permits of various classes being conducted in privacy at the same time. There is an excellently equipped kitchen on this floor with a large assembly room in connection which offers an ideal place for the cooking classes.

There has been a nice lawn in front of the parish house where games could be played, and also an athletic field, but now the construction of the cathedral proper is under way and this ground is not available for the recreational purposes. The athletic field and playground has been moved across the street.

At the beginning it was thought best to have the girls and boys come on separate days, as the building would not accommodate all the classes at one time. This plan has been somewhat altered and now each group comes two days separately, while a joint session of the boys and girls is held on Friday. The total enrollment reached 228 the first year and has steadily increased until last year it registered 475, and this term surpasses them all with an enrollment of 548.

The school session begins each morning at 9 o'clock and closes at 11:15 o'clock. The program is divided into three periods of 45 minutes each. The kindergarten department is under the supervision of a graduate kindergarten. Sessions of this department are held the first four days of the week for six weeks. The entire session is held outdoors in a beautiful lawn surrounding the bishop's house.

In the music department a book of songs is compiled previous to the opening of school and a book of familiar airs is chosen. The children are permitted to choose their favorites and the entire group sings them.

One of the noted physicians of the city prescribes the schedule for the first aid course. There is a 15-minute lecture each morning by one of the best of the medical profession. During the past term this phase of the program covered bathing the body, care of the skin, teeth, nose, throat and ears and first aid work.

The course this past term has been enlarged by the addition of telegraphy, wireless operating, manual arts, applied arts, carpentry, gymnasium and swimming.

Friday of each week is a gala day, as it is marked by the joint session of boys and girls which culminates with swimming lessons at Riverside Park. The trip from Phoenix to the park is made in motor cars furnished by interested friends.

All Are Welcome.

No bar of class or creed is raised against any child wishing to attend

ICE AND THE ICEMAN ARE AT THE HEIGHT OF POPULARITY NOW

Ice making is considered one of the fine arts in Phoenix during the summer season. Ice is one staple for which the demand in summer is practically unlimited. And because of the fact that ice is used to such an extent in the preserving of foods and the preparing of cold drinks, many people in the course of their daily contact with the refrigerated balm have recourse to much speculation concerning its manufacture.

One of the chief duties of an iceman is to answer the oft repeated question: "What makes this ice white, and why does it taste like ammonia?"

The first part of the question is easily answered and the housewife usually accepts the explanation without objection, but the part of the question having to do with ammonia is not so easily passed on.

Most people have an underlying belief that white, bubbly ice contains ammonia.
